

Gate Automation

In the vast majority of cases we install automated gates for our Customers who prefer the time saving convenience of opening and closing their gates by remote control. Not only is it a comforting sight to see your automatically operated gates open on a cold winters morning but also reassuring to see them close behind you if you return late at night.

One of the major advantages of automatically operated gates is that a much higher level of personal security is achieved by using the door entry system to communicate with your visitors at the end of the driveway, rather than face to face at the front door. This one fact alone, has been responsible for a great number of our customers deciding to invest in automated gates for their home.
